Scholarships
To apply for scholarships, use the form at the end of this program. Deadline: February 7, 2003. The purpose of the form is to 1) help the Appalachian Studies Association use its limited scholarship money to help the largest possible number of conference attendees and 2) help applicants explain exactly what they need in support from the ASA so that the ASA Scholarship committee can make prudent decisions. Primary criteria in decision making are financial need of the applicants and the ASA’s need to increase access to the conference for grassroots community people, students, persons of color, and any people for whom conference attendance is blocked by financial barriers.

Exhibitors, Vendors and Groups are invited to exhibit at the conference. Contact Mary Thomas at the ASA office for more information and rates: email at asa@marshall.edu; phone at (304) 696-2904.

This year’s theme: “Building a Healthy Region: Environment, Culture, Community” is examined in a variety of insightful ways in this year’s program. Papers and sessions on the environment, communities, individual physical and mental health, and the social and economic condition of Appalachia offer new insights and opportunities for action. In addition, the 2003 conference at Eastern Kentucky University will include two major photographic exhibits, films, poetry, posters, roundtables, stories, videos, good food, and an outstanding book exhibit area.

Tom Fitzgerald, an activist lawyer who has directed several major campaigns against environmental degradation in eastern Kentucky will be our keynote speaker. Herbie Smith of Appalshop will premier a film featuring Wendell Berry’s observations about the meaning of the events of September 11, 2001. There will be panels discussing community building among Latinos in southwestern Virginia, the “Status of Women in West Virginia Report,” and the question of whether there is an Appalachian environmentalism.

The Appalachian Studies Association Conference is held annually on a rotating basis at sites in northern, central, and southern Appalachia. The Conference has several purposes: to share work in progress, to foster cooperation between academic disciplines, and to stimulate new work of significance. It also provides a forum for dialogue and action by a coalition of academic, grassroots community, and activists in the region.
Your registration form and payment must be postmarked on or before March 7, 2003, conference registration includes (1) the 2003 ASA membership fee and (2) fees entitling participation in all 2003 conference activities, including meals (Friday banquet & Saturday luncheon) served at the conference center. Only pre-paid registrants may attend the meals. Late/on-site registration fee is $105 / students $55. For persons who have registered and then find themselves unable to participate, refunds will be given if you notify the ASA office in Huntington (see address below) before March 7. No conference fees can be refunded after March 7, 2003.

SCHOLARSHIP REQUEST FORM
26th Annual Appalachian Studies Conference

Eastern Kentucky University
Richmond, Kentucky
March 28 – 30, 2003

Application Deadline: Postmark Friday, February 7, 2003

The purpose of this form is to 1) help the Appalachian Studies Association use its limited scholarship money to help the largest possible number of conference attendees and 2) help applicants explain exactly what they need in support from the ASA so that the ASA Scholarship committee can make prudent decisions. Primary criteria in decision making are financial need of the applicants and the ASA’s need to increase access to the conference for grassroots community people, students, persons of color, and any people for whom conference attendance is blocked by financial barriers.

Please note: Persons applying for scholarships for a group of people, such as a student group, should fill out a separate form for each person for whom a scholarship is requested.

Please email completed forms to robert.gipe@kctcs.net or mail completed forms to Robert Gipe, Appalachian Program, Southeast Community College, 700 College Road, Cumberland, KY 40823. Phone: 606 589-2145 x 2047 Fax: 606 589-2275
