We are excited to issue this call for participation to all with something interesting to share regarding the Appalachian region. Appalachian Studies Conferences are rich, interdisciplinary events that explore and honor traditions of Appalachia while at the same time making unblinking appraisals of all that is present-day Appalachia. This is especially true given our conference theme this year: “New Appalachia: Known Realities and Imagined Possibilities.” In keeping with this theme, we encourage submissions that reflect all aspects of Appalachia, particularly those issues and presenters that are new to the table. We hope that those who have been interested in Appalachia from afar will consider making this their first but not their last conference. We have developed several opportunities for new “Appalachianophiles” to become integrated and active in the vibrant community that is the Appalachian Studies Association.

Submissions of Proposals
Proposals may be submitted between September 1 and October 15, 2013. Late and incomplete proposals cannot be considered or accepted. There will be no exceptions. Receipt of proposals will be acknowledged via e-mail to all authors. Final decisions will be sent no later than November 30.

All proposals must be submitted online. New this year, we will be using Marshall Digital Scholar as the platform for submissions. Beginning August 15, a link to the form can be found at www.appalachianstudies.org. The following information, under proposal guidelines on the next page, is required in order to complete your submission via the online participation form.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

In addition to a keynote presentation by renowned Appalachian writer Silas House, the conference will feature a series of three “New Appalachia” plenary sessions designed to explore stories from and about our region. The mixed-genre, interdisciplinary sessions will draw on everything from history and literature to music and storytelling. The aim is to deepen our understandings of Appalachia and of our human experience more broadly, by engaging with ideas—and with each other—in lively, innovative ways.

KEYNOTE
The keynote presentation on contemporary issues in Appalachia will be delivered by Silas House, NEH Chair of Appalachian Studies at Berea College in Berea, KY. This year's theme of “New Appalachia” was inspired by House’s play entitled “This is My Heart for You,” a work that explores hate crimes against gay, interracial, and lesbian couples that occurred in eastern Kentucky a few years ago. He has authored multiple novels dealing with Appalachian issues and communities. House’s first novel, Clay's Quilt was on the New York Times Best Seller List and was a finalist for both the Southeast Booksellers’ Association fiction award and the Appalachian Writers' Association Book of the Year Award. A Parchment of Leaves (2003), which became a national bestseller, was a finalist for the Southern Book Critics’ Circle Prize, won the Award for Special Achievement from the Fellowship of Southern Writers, the Chaffin Award for Literature, the Kentucky Novel of the Year Award, and many others.

PLENARY SESSIONS
In addition to the keynote, the “New Appalachia” theme will be highlighted in a series of plenaries that tie past heritage to present legacy. Each separate plenary will employ one of the three major strands of work in the ASA—(1) the arts, (2) community/activism, and (3) research/scholarship.

The first plenary will involve the art of storytelling, a time-honored Appalachian oral tradition and a somewhat marginalized arts category. This session will be a collaborative effort by Adam Booth, an award-winning WV storyteller who teaches at Shepherd University, and Scott McClanahan, a prolific WV writer who recently received considerable national attention for his “memoir of place” titled Crapalachia: A biography of a place.

The plenary session related to activism will feature professional musician Sue Massek, a founding member of Kentucky's legendary Reel World String Band. Her session, titled “The Herstory of Appalachian Women”, will use both word and song to tell the stories of Appalachian women activists from Cherokee leader Nancy Ward (1739-1824) to Mountaintop Removal opponent Judy Bonds (1952-2011).

The plenary on scholarship will feature Eric Lassiter and Beth Campbell. Eric is author of the Chicago Guide to Collaborative Inquiry and founding editor of the journal Collaborative Anthropologies. Folklorist, writer, and educator Beth Campbell’s research takes up issues of collaboration, community, and civic engagement. She is exploring the constitutive nature of collaborative writing, and how it works—through shared agency, shared commitment, and shared humanity—to make and remake those who engage it. Eric and Beth co-authored The Other Side of Middletown, winner of the American Anthropological Association and the Society for Applied Anthropology's 2005 Margaret Mead Award.

APPALACHIAN FILM FESTIVAL
The Appalachian Film Festival will be held in conjunction with the conference this year. This separate, ticketed event will be held on the Marshall University campus in the Joan C. Edwards Experimental Theater on Friday evening and at the historic, restored Keith-Albee Theater in downtown Huntington on Saturday afternoon and evening. A full list of films to be screened along with times will be posted on the ASA website when they become available.

SATURDAY NIGHT CONCERT
The Saturday Night Concert will feature Ron Sowell of Mountain Stage fame. This event will be held at the Joan C. Edwards Fine Arts Center on the Marshall University campus and will feature a variety of original works along with some special guest performers.

“COME TO THE TABLE” SESSIONS
In keeping with the theme of “New Appalachia”, we especially want to encourage and support individuals and groups new to the Appalachian Studies Association. The conference will include a series of “Come to the Table” sessions, specifically designed to give newcomers a chance to meet others in the Association and learn about and create ways to become involved. Plan to join us in conversation about the past, present, and future of our region and our organization.
CALL FOR CONVENERS
If you are not submitting a paper or proposal but would be willing to serve as a convener for concurrent sessions, please send an e-mail to Marianna Footo Linz at linz@marshall.edu. Please use the subject line “Conference Convener” and feel free to indicate types of sessions you would most like to convene.

SCHOLARSHIPS
The Appalachian Studies Association offers registration scholarships to ensure that people with limited incomes or insufficient institutional support have a voice in the annual ASA conferences. For more information on scholarships, contact Roger Guy at roger.guy@uncp.edu. Go to www.appalachianstudies.org/conference for the online application for scholarship assistance which will be available beginning December 1, 2013.

HOWARD DORGAN SILENT AUCTION INFORMATION
The ASA provides financial support to those who lack financial means and is proud of its support in this endeavor. Please contribute to ASA’s annual silent auction by donating crafts, quilts, autographed works, tickets for events, trips, artwork or other items related to the region. Be sure to bid and buy items during the auction to support the ASA Scholarship Fund. For more information, contact Philis Alvic, philis@philisalvic.info or Carol Baugh, carol.baugh@sinclair.edu.

CONFERENCE SITE AND ACCOMMODATIONS
The conference will be held at Marshall University in Huntington, WV, home of the Appalachian Studies Association. Marshall serves nearly 14,000 students on two campuses and offers 52 undergraduate degrees, 51 graduate degrees, a graduate certificate in Appalachian studies, and is home to the Center for the Study of Ethnicity and Gender in Appalachia. The town of Huntington, West Virginia, boasts a thriving and unique area of shops and restaurants, many locally owned and operated. Most shops are within easy walking distance to campus and will be offering special events and discounts for conference attendees. In addition to Appalachian films playing in a beautifully renovated theatre downtown, Saturday will feature a “Stroll, Sip, and Shop” event sponsored by local businesses featuring local foods, art, and other products.

CALL FOR 2014 AWARD NOMINATIONS

THE CARL A. ROSS APPALACHIAN STUDENT PAPER COMPETITION is open to students in two categories: middle/high school and undergraduate/graduate students. Middle/high school papers should be 12 - 15 pages in length. Undergraduate/graduate papers should be 20 - 30 pages in length. The authors of the winning papers will receive $100 each. All papers must adhere to guidelines for scholarly research. Students who wish to present their papers at the conference must also submit a Proposal for Participation following the submission guidelines. Costs of attending the conference are the writers’ responsibility.

To submit a paper for consideration for the 2014 competition, e-mail a Microsoft Word copy of the paper before December 9, 2013, to Joette Morris Gates at: kywoman102950@gmail.com. Students submitting papers must be enrolled in courses at the time of the conference. To verify their student status, students can submit one of the following before December 16, 2013: a copy of a schedule of classes or transcripts indicating enrollment for the spring 2014 term or a letter from a faculty advisor verifying the student's status for spring 2014, which should include the faculty member’s email address, phone number, and mailing address.

CRATIS D. WILLIAMS/JAMES S. BROWN SERVICE AWARD
The Cratis D. Williams/James S. Brown Service Award is given to an individual who has made exemplary contributions to Appalachia, Appalachian studies, and/or the Appalachian Studies Association. There is a two-step selection process. 1) Nominations should include a statement regarding the individual's specific contributions to the region and/or the individual's c.v./résumé. 2) Following a review, the committee will request additional information about one or more finalists before selecting the award recipient. Send nomination materials to John Hennen, Associate Professor of History, Department of History, Philosophy and Legal Studies, 354 Rader Hall, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY, 40351 or by email to j.hennen@moreheadstate.edu before January 15, 2014.

HELEN M. LEWIS COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD
The Helen M. Lewis Community Service Award is given to an individual or an organization that has made exemplary contributions to Appalachia through involvement with and service to its people and communities. Nominations should include a statement regarding the individual or organization's specific contributions to the region or its people, accompanied by at least two letters of support. Send nomination materials to Sandy Ballard, Belk Library, Box 32026, Appalachian State University, Boone, NC 28608, or to ballardsl@appstate.edu before January 31, 2014.

JACK SPADARO DOCUMENTARY AWARD
The award's name honors the activist and whistleblower, Jack Spadaro, who spent his professional career working within the coal mining industry for the betterment of the Appalachian community. One award is given annually to recognize the best film, video, radio, television, or other media presentation on Appalachia or its people. The winner will be awarded $250. Nominations should be made before January 31, 2014 to Jack Wright at jwright@ohio.edu or to Jack Wright, 5616 Marion Johnson Rd., Athens, OH 45701. Technical and submission requirements are detailed at http://www.appalachianstudies.org/association/awards/.
THE e-APPALACHIA AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING WEBSITE
The e-Appalachia Award is given annually in recognition of an outstanding website that provides insight on Appalachia and its people, or provides a vital community service to Appalachians. The winner will be awarded $250. Nominations should be made to Eryn Roles, Website Committee Chair, roles1@marshall.edu, before January 31, 2014.

WEATHERFORD AWARDS
The ASA and Berea College annually present the Weatherford Awards to honor published works that “best illuminate the challenges, personalities, and unique qualities of the Appalachian South.” Three awards are now given: one in nonfiction, one in fiction, and one in poetry, presented in honor of Grace Toney Edwards. The Weatherford Awards are named after Willis D. Weatherford Jr. and Sr. for their contributions to the region. The late Alfred Perrin began the award in 1970. The only requirement is that the subject matter of the books be Appalachian or that they be set in Appalachia. All nominations for the Weatherford Awards must be made before December 31, 2013, and all entries must be originally published in 2013. Anyone may nominate, but each nomination in any of the three categories must include seven copies. Please send nominations and seven copies to Chris Green, Director, Loyal Jones Appalachian Center, CPO 2166, 205 North Main Street, Berea College, Berea, KY 40404. For further information about these awards, visit our website at www.appalachianstudies.org/association/awards/ or http://www.berea.edu/appalachiancenter/weatherford/default.asp.

WILMA DYKEMAN “Faces of Appalachia” POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP
The Wilma Dykeman “Faces of Appalachia” Post-doctoral Research Fellowship, which provides $4,000 to one recent Ph.D. to support research related to gender, race, and/or ethnicity in Appalachia, is awarded in years when funding is available from the Fellowship’s endowment. Please look for a 2015 award announcement in the fall of 2014.

NEW FOR 2014: AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING APPALACHIAN STUDIES
The ASA Award for Excellence in Teaching Appalachian Studies is awarded each year at the ASA annual conference to one individual who teaches Appalachian studies coursework. The winner will receive $250. Candidates may be nominated or may self-nominate. Nomination packets must be submitted in a single PDF file as an attachment to an email to the chair of the ASA Education Committee, Carol Baugh, at carol.baugh@sinclair.edu by January 31, 2014. Selection of award winner will be made by the ASA Education Committee. Current members include Theresa Burriss, Katherine Ledford, Sylvia Shurbutt, Tom Wagner, and Tess Lloyd. Criteria and documentation requirements for the award are as follows:
1) A completed nomination form, available from the ASA website or by contacting Carol Baugh.
2) One-page letter of nomination or self-nomination.
3) One-page statement of teaching philosophy.
4) One- to two-page curriculum vita.
5) Must have taught accredited Appalachian studies coursework for a minimum of three years.
Documentation: Provide syllabus or syllabi (nominees will be asked to add their syllabus or syllabi to the ASA website under Resources) and one complete set of student evaluations from an Appalachian studies course, including scores and comments.
6) May provide up to two additional pages of documentation such as: peer evaluations from colleagues, letters of support or other documentation from former students, and information regarding professional development activities.
Please note: The ASA is interested in identifying potential sponsors for this award. For inquiries, please contact ASA Awards Chair Emily Satterwhite at satterwhite@vt.edu.

MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of the Appalachian Studies Association is to promote and engage dialogue, research, scholarship, education, creative expression, and action among scholars, educators, practitioners, grassroots activists, students, individuals, groups and institutions. Our mission is driven by our commitment to foster quality of life, democratic participation and appreciation of Appalachian experiences regionally, nationally, and internationally.
LETTER OF INVITATION TO EXHIBIT, ADVERTISE, OR SPONSOR A BREAK, RECEPTION, OR OTHER EVENT

Appalachian Studies Association/Thirty-Seventh Annual Appalachian Studies Conference

New Appalachia: Known Realities and Imagined Possibilities

March 28 – 30, 2014
Exhibits are open Friday at 11:30 AM, Saturday morning and afternoon, and Sunday morning. During off-hours, the exhibit area will be locked to provide security. Exhibits may be set-up 8:30 – 11:30 AM Friday.

Marshall University, Huntington, WV

Approximately 700 – 900 people, including scholars from diverse fields as well as teachers, artists, writers, and members of Appalachian-oriented organizations, agencies, and communities. Our preliminary program is mailed to over 2,000 people.

Publishers and others are invited to exhibit during the 2014 Appalachian Studies Conference, to advertise in the preliminary and/or the final conference program, and to sponsor a break, reception, and/or book-signing. Special receptions are available by arrangement if space and time are available. This year, the exhibit hall will be in the Marshall Student Center.

Exhibit Tables
Exhibitors will be provided with two chairs and one 6-foot table, clothed but not draped. Limit of two persons per vendor. Additional tables are available for a reduced rate. A special shared table rate is offered to community organizations, artists, and small presses. Exhibits should not be so tall or so arranged as to block the view of other exhibits. Exhibit fee includes admission to all sessions for two people. Meals and ASA membership are not included but may be purchased separately.

Advertisements
Ads may be reserved for both the preliminary (mailed to over 2,000 people) and final programs as part of a package deal or for the final program only. Ads should be 300 resolution (DPI) and grayscale. PDF files are preferred and may be sent electronically. To be included in the preliminary program, ads must be received by November 15, 2013.

Sponsorship of Breaks, Receptions, and Other Events
Fees for sponsoring one of the breaks during the conference are available on the reservation form. Special receptions may be arranged (call number below for information).

Our Publisher's Reception on Saturday March 29th will highlight publishers/presses and feature your books and authors. All book-signings will be scheduled at this time to maximize attendance and not compete with any other sessions/events. See reservation form for fees and other details.

Please indicate your interest in sponsoring one of the above on the adjacent form.

For rates or to reserve an exhibit table, advertisement, or sponsorship, see the adjacent form. Return the form to the address below by November 15, 2013. All fees are due by January 16, 2014 and payable to the Appalachian Studies Association.

Space is limited so reserve early!
