From the Editors .................................................................3

Communities in Action
Without a Vision the People Perish
Mary Nelle Osborne .................................................................7

Articles
“What a Wild and Various State”: Virginia in Lee Smith’s Oral History
Martha Billips ........................................................................26

Writing that Old Moonshine Lit: Gender, Power, and Nation in Unexpected Places
Elizabeth Engelhardt .................................................................49

“traitors in Wheeling”: Secessionism in an Appalachian Unionist City
Ken Fones-Wolf .....................................................................75

The Spanish Conspiracy on the Trans-Appalachian Borderlands, 1786 - 1789
Kevin T. Barksdale ................................................................96

Selected Papers from the 2007 Conference
Appalachian Stereotypes: Cultural History, Gender, and Sexual Rhetoric
Carissa Massey ......................................................................124

In a Lusty But Not Boastful Manner: Harvey Broome and the Crafting of a Wilderness Philosophy
Karl Rohr ..............................................................................137

“Too Much Politics, Not Enough Corn”: The Nineteenth-Century Media Battles Over Appalachia
T.R.C. Hutton ......................................................................153

Annual Bibliography, 2005
compiled by Jo. B. Brown ..........................................................167

Annual Bibliography, 2006
compiled by Jo. B. Brown ..........................................................211
Reviews..................................................................................................................................................255

Fiction and Poetry

The Logan Topographies: Poems
by Alena Hairston; reviewed by Chris Green.................................................................255

Strange as this Weather Has Been by Ann Pancake; reviewed by Danny Miller.................................................................257

Nonfiction

Ginseng Dreams: The Secret World of America's Most Valuable Plant
by Kristin Johannsen; reviewed by Michael J. Best.....................................................259

Fiddlin' Charlie Bowman: An East Tennessee Old-Time Music Pioneer and His Musical Family
by Bob L. Cox; reviewed by Gary Boye.........................................................................261

Staging Tradition: John Lair and Sarah Gertrude Knott by Michael Ann Williams; reviewed by Gavin James Campbell.............................262

Coalfield Jews: An Appalachian History
by Deborah R. Weiner
In the Catskills: A Century of the Jewish Experience in “The Mountains” edited by Phil Brown; both reviewed by Marcie Cohen Ferris............................264

Missing Mountains: We Went to the Mountaintop but it Wasn’t There: Kentuckians Write Against Mountaintop Removal edited by Kristin Johannsen, Bobbie Ann Mason, and Mary Ann Taylor-Hull; reviewed by Desiree Hellegers..................................................................................268

Neighbor to Neighbor: A Memoir of Family, Community, and Civil War in Appalachian North Carolina edited by Sandra L. Ballard and Leila E. Weinstein; reviewed by Gordon McKinney
..................................................................................................................................................270

Signs, Cures & Witchery: German Appalachian Folklore
  by Gerald C. Milnes; reviewed by Jim Minick .........................................................272

The West Virginia Encyclopedia
  edited by Ken Sullivan; reviewed by Charles Reagan Wilson...............................274